BOOST FOR ROAD BONDS IN COUNTY

Many From Three Cities Take Part in Meeting Held at Hillsdale.

CONVINCING TALKS HEARD

Resolution Adopted Urging Supervisors to Submit $1,000,000 Bond Question to People.

Fifteen auto loads of Rock Island, Moline and East Moline business men went to Hillsdale Saturday afternoon and participated in a good roads meeting arranged by a committee from the East Moline Commercial club. A. B. Johnson of East Moline, president of the Rock River Valley Route association, presided and after half a dozen addresses, had been heard the following resolutions, presented by Phil Mitchell, president of the Rock Island County Highway Improvement association, were adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the board of supervisors of Rock Island county should take action leading to a submission of the voters of said county at the November election of a proposition for the issue of one million dollars of bonds payable serially within 20 years, bearing interest at not more than four and one-half per cent per annum, semi-annually, the avails to be applied in payment for good hard country roads in said county.

Mr. Mitchell was one of the leading speakers. He urged the bond issue of $1,000,000 as the only feasible means of getting highway improvement during the lifetime of the present generation. He cited the conditions in Vermillion county, Ill., where the voters, with the example of what adequate road revenue has done for Indiana, just across the county line, are this fall to vote on a bond issue of $1,500,000. He pointed to the fact that the bonds, if issued here, would not be sold till the money was needed and that interest would not be paid while the funds were lying idle. By this plan in two or three years the main roads in the county could be improved, while under the special tax method it would take 15 or 20 years to get the same work done.

E. H. Guyer said he had investigated the records and found that the city property owners in the county would pay 77 per cent of the cost of road improvement under the bond plan, the country people paying but 23 per cent. In his opinion the bond issue would meet with more opposition in the cities than in the country.

Township Pays But Little. William McEniry of Rock Island also had looked up the records and found that Canoe Creek would pay but $5,000 of the total cost of the proposed plan, hardly enough to build one mile of hard roads. He said $1,000,000 was not a large sum to expend for a purpose, the benefits of which would be so great and so generally distributed.

S. W. Searle of Rock Island urged the importance to the country of road betterment, declaring that the communities where such transportation facilities are provided excel others of equal advantage otherwise but compelled to use the old dirt highways.

Others who spoke were Dr. W. E. Taylor of Moline, who predicted that with hard roads property in Canoe Creek township would advance to $500 per acre. Chairman George H. Richmond of the county board, who said he favored the project the others had advocated either by a bond issue or by special assessment. E. W. Woodcock, secretary of the county organization, and Mayor M. R. Carlson of Moline.

"MODEL MAN" TALK FAILS TO ATTRACT

The address of Rev. Ned Lee, superintendent of the People's Union mission, Davenport, was not given yesterday afternoon at the Illinois theatre as planned. He was to have spoken on "The Model Man," but at 3 o'clock, the time scheduled for the talk, there were but a dozen people present. This is to be deplored, as Rev. Lee is a forceful speaker, and always has something worth while to say. Rev. Lee expects to leave shortly on an extended trip through the east.

is unfavorable they will serve in the church.

BARGE WHICH WILL HAUL FREIGHT ON RIVER AT HALF MILL TON MILE

New Orleans, June 29.—Under the auspices of the inland navigation bureau, commercial navigation of the Mississippi river between New Orleans and St. Paul will be revived with the departure from New Orleans July 6, 1914, of barge No. 5.

This barge is one of several producer gas propelled flat bottom steel craft designed by John H. Herndon, and built at New Orleans for the purpose of navigating the inland waterways of the United States under economic conditions. The freight carrying capacity of these barges is very much greater than ordinary river craft and the cost of operating them is very much less. In fact, the cost of moving freight by them, even under existing unfavorable conditions, is not more than half a mill per ton mile, while the cost under the ideal conditions the inland navigation bureau expects ultimately to establish should not exceed one-eighth or one-quarter of a mill per ton mile.

There is no patent on the design or construction of these modern craft, and any boat builder may construct them if he possesses the proper equipment.

These barges are built with capacities ranging from 10 to 1,000 tons. Unlike the old river craft no frills or fancy work enters into their construction. They are plain iron and steel from stem to stern. They are so shaped as to hold every possible ton of freight and to slide over sand bars and to push stumps and snags out of the way.

Every possible facility for easy and economic loading and unloading is provided.

The crew needed to navigate a loaded 1,000 ton barge consists of seven men all told.

The cost of fuel is less than $5 a day. No fuel is wasted when the barge is not under way.

On the trip to St. Paul 1,000 tons of Louisiana lumber will be taken up, and 1,000 tons of export flour and other commodities will be brought back to New Orleans for shipside delivery.

Several newspaper men, engineers and others will make the trip up from New Orleans, and others, including Mr. Bernhard, the designer and builder, and several army engineers will join the party at St. Louis and make the trip to St. Paul.

They will sleep on cots under a large awning on the forward deck, a very comfortable arrangement.

The boat will move up the river at a rate of about 7 1/2 miles an hour.

Henry Lewis, 13 years old, of Baltimore, Md., weighs 190 pounds.
